We are grateful when legacy's or money is left to the Holy Family. Roy Williams, a parishioner, left a sum of money in his will for use here. The finances are a very important part of the parish. I am forming a finance committee as is required by the diocese for audit purposes. The parish gives over 30 % of offertories to the diocese in levies of one kind or another. Thank you to all who Gift Aid and have Standing Orders. The schools commission takes £3500 per quarter for the running of the schools in the diocese. The idea is that those who are baptised in the parish come to church weekly to contribute to the offertory collection. Of the 40 children baptised in the parish this year so far, I would say about 4 of those families come to Mass and contribute to the offertory. So you can see that fund raising outside of the offertories are essential for the upkeep of the church, presbytery and grounds. The Hall raises money. The 100's Club, Fetes and galas's raise money, and I am grateful for all ideas when it comes to fund raising. I think a fund raising group would come in handy to plan yearly events. From the questionnaires I can see a call for various activities to take place, such as teas and coffees after Mass on Sunday's; opportunities to go out on parish day trips, retreats for parishioners, learning more about the faith; groups for Advent and Lent. Do support the choir and music group who are always looking for new people to join them.
